

THE ACADEMIC SENATE
OF ALLAN HANCOCK
COLLEGE

VOTE OF NO CONFIDENCE IN CHANCELLOR ELOY OAKLEY

Whereas the passage of AB 1725 in 1988 established the principles of participatory governance and collegial consultation in the California Community Colleges;

Whereas, the Chancellor's Office is obligated to consult collegially with the Academic Senate for California Community Colleges, whose role is to make recommendations in academic and professional matters as defined in regulation (Title 5 section 53200);

Whereas, in Fall 2017 the ASCCC adopted resolution 07.09 asserting that "[d]ecisions and recommendations involving academic and professional matters and matters of statewide impact, including termination of development of the common assessment test, proposals for an entirely online college, and development of the Vision for Success, are being made with minimal consultative input or only an appearance of consultative input, either by reports to committees with cursory opportunities for feedback or through creating committees and taskforces without representatives appointed by statewide organizations or constituencies";

Whereas, the faculty of Allan Hancock College has become deeply troubled by Chancellor Oakley's lack of transparency and his unwillingness to consult with faculty leadership on these and other critical matters with the potential to significantly impact our system's operations, such as the proposed performance-based funding formula and the implementation of AB 705;

Be it resolved: that the faculty of Allan Hancock College affirm a vote of no confidence in California Community Colleges Chancellor Eloy Oakley.
