

Zoom Chat Record for Academic Senate Meeting on April 15, 2020

00:27:11 Paulette Bell: Wow! Never happened to me!

00:28:17 Frank Chong: I will have IT look into it and get back to you all

00:33:11 Jesse Kosten - Area 11: Please update file title names for correct year.

00:33:38 Tristan Frazier: Under Dr. Frank Chong's comments he says we have 2 goals and then there are 3 bullet points. I think the 3rd bullet is a conclusion.

Under President's Report, 8th bullet 2nd diamond; ...the more people the longer it take, delay... (should be takes?)

00:53:31 Lauren Servais: Yes! We're up and running. :)

00:54:00 Lauren Servais: <https://english.santarosa.edu/writing-center>

00:54:36 Therese Ehret: Students may have Covid-related issues that prevent them from performing at their best, regardless of whether the class was originally face-to-face or online. The repeatability option should be there for both types of classes.

01:00:03 Anne Donegan: Thanks Paulette.

01:00:36 Lauren Nahas: Is it possible to post that report on the Academic Senate site? I'd like to be able to review some of that.

01:00:42 Anne Donegan: I agree with Terry's point about all students having access to relaxed repeatability options.

01:00:56 Lauren Nahas: Thanks bunches! No worries. :)

01:01:12 John Stover: thank you. i would like to out with area seven too

01:07:46 Paulette Bell: Question about Audit

01:15:40 tarajacobson: Is the most recent version of the resolution up for us to review?

01:16:13 Therese Ehret: I sent a question to the Executive Committee last week about other colleges negotiating with Zoom for added privacy and restrictions on data sharing. I haven't heard back from the EC. Has the college negotiated with Zoom about this? If so, does this affect our resolution?

01:17:35 David Lemmer: Remember to use the "Raise Hand" function at the bottom of the Participants window!

01:21:01 Monica Ohkubo: Where can we find the full, current resolution?

01:23:06 Sean Martin: From Board Policy 2.13P: "District contracts with outside vendors for electronic communications services shall explicitly reflect and be consistent with all District policies related to privacy."

01:23:35 tarajacobson: Were we sent this resolution?? I can't find it anywhere. I feel like I would need to read it, if I am to vote on whether to use it or not.

01:23:49 Joe Fassler:

01:24:08 John Stover: Here, here to Julie's comments

01:24:27 jthompson@santarosa.edu: I also meant to say that another reason I'm leaning away from the resolution model is that it is incredibly time consuming because of the word-smithing.

01:29:23 Joe Fassler: Plagues of locusts

01:30:26 Jennifer Carlin-Goldberg: We can teach using smoke signals on clear days...

01:31:56 Lauren Servais: We need to start thinking about our schedule as 15 weeks, and the extra 2.5 weeks are our wiggle room.

01:32:12 April Oliver: Last meeting, someone brought up what to do as far as tech training in the summer if we are expected to teach to the full SLO's.

01:32:30 Monica Ohkubo: Great idea Lauren!

01:32:38 David Lemmer: Ditto

01:32:59 Lauren Nahas: DE will offer tech training in the summer.

01:33:05 Leslie Crane: Is a 1 week extension enough when the campus has been closed x 2 weeks?

01:34:06 Lauren Nahas: I also think DE would love to hear from departments about specific things folks would like support on. You know, people's concerns and approaches vary in different fields.

01:35:59 April Oliver: When will it be officially decided if summer semester will be fully online? Will we be discussing this more?

01:36:34 Jesse Kosten - Area 11: if it was less weeks, the class time per week would be increased.

01:40:33 Therese Ehret: Last meeting, Eric mentioned that we have considered a compressed schedule, one which is used for Transfer Track classes. I think the idea was that we could teach our classes this way. However, these classes have longer class meetings. They aren't just 2 1/2 weeks shorter.

01:41:30 Joe Fassler: If a week of class is cancelled, there is more time lost in a compressed format

01:43:23 Sarah swhyly@santarosa.edu: Could we use a Google Doc for the Senate Report? So Eric could just put things in as they happen?

01:43:29 Tristan Frazier: The President's Report was posted online only a few minutes before the meeting today due to my workload with the two departments. I was unable to update the website when Eric sent it to me this morning. Sorry for that delay!

01:43:55 Sarah swhyly@santarosa.edu: We could also use the browser version of Word.

01:44:13 April Oliver: What about a section in the president's report with an executive committee report?

01:45:10 Joe Fassler: No more meetings, SVP

01:46:30 Lauren Nahas: Er..what's SVP?

01:47:08 Joe Fassler: If you please...

01:47:22 Andrea Thomas: s'il vous plait

01:47:35 Lauren Nahas: Ahh. Learning every day. :)

01:47:44 Monica Ohkubo: Is there any way the issue of tutorial not being available right now can be followed up by this body somehow? I'm not sure my question of the President's report tutoring item, was fully addressed.

01:48:16 Lauren Nahas: Monica,

01:48:21 Joe Fassler: I agree, Monica—students depend on this help

01:48:45 Lauren Nahas: Oops..I know ESL is offering tutoring. English is. I think the tutorial center is or is in the process of offering it.

01:51:12 Monica Ohkubo: Thanks all. I know there are other services available, but regarding the tutorial center specifically, CSKLS/Tutorial sent this out, which is what I was referring to: "I hope you all are staying well. The Tutorial Centers are working hard to move our academic support services to a remote platform. At this time there are privacy concerns which need to be negotiated with the unions. While these issues are being resolved, please direct your students to the NetTutor online tutoring platform accessible through their student portal."

01:51:15 nfrantz: I've had quite a few students who are also inquiring about tutoring options other than NetTutor

01:52:19 April Oliver: It's not just faculty proficiency-- we're concerned about student proficiency and support for remote learning in future semesters in ESL and especially how that will affect enrollment.

01:56:29 Anne Donegan: Many students who signed up for in person classes are frustrated with this being taught remotely/online.

01:57:05 Anne Donegan: Sorry Terry and Sarah.

01:58:15 Leslie Crane: Hi, I'm back

02:00:16 Lauren Servais: If district isn't making that decision, then do departments have the ability to continue emergency alternative methods? I am reluctant to have us move "online" without pay for the additional workload and without professional learning for the online training.

02:05:34 Sean Martin: It is no secret that the Chancellor and the BOG President wish to exploit this crisis to push their agenda (supported by private interests) to greatly expand online instruction. Neither of them have any meaningful experience in the classroom, nor do they have relevant expertise to address disciplinary concerns regarding these questions. Whether you think online learning is a great or a terrible thing, this is a matter of considerable concern.

02:05:46 Therese Ehret: Has the college considered lowering class size for the fall, to allow for social distancing and other challenges if we shift to online instruction mid-semester?

02:08:33 April Oliver: We're concerned about when classes will be cancelled due to enrollment and how much flexibility will be shown with letting classes continue with lower numbers of students.

02:10:17 John Stover: thank you, Dr Saldana-Talley!!!!

02:13:11 April Oliver: Thank you, Jane

02:14:16 Lauren Servais: I object to that as well.

02:14:34 April Oliver: We weren't told that beforehand

02:14:52 Andrea Thomas: you can set up meetings to disable private chat!

02:15:03 Andrea Thomas: Zoom allows you to control what kind of chat happens in your meetings

02:15:31 Monica Ohkubo: I think we should be clear with the summer plan to students because they are constantly asking, and we may lose enrollment with the confusion.

02:15:47 nfrantz: I agree, Monica.

02:15:53 Joe Fassler: Thank you!

02:15:55 Jennifer Carlin-Goldberg: Bye all!

02:15:58 Sarah swhyly@santarosa.edu: Thank you!

02:20:13 Tristan Frazier: I'm going to jump off now. goodnight!
